

The broadcast industry is already a mess from lack of competition. Satellite radio companies should have the same freedoms in local markets as the 'Clear Channel' type companies that now rule the airwaves on a national level. XM radio should be allowed to carry local traffic information just like these other larger, much more "lobby supported" companies.